Homework Assignment #2

1. What is the purpose of system calls?

2. Describe three general methods for passing parameters to the operating system.

3. What is the main advantage of the layered approach to system design? What are the disadvantages of the layered approach?

4. Explain the difference between a monolithic kernel and a microkernel.